FUND MANAGER REPORT

For the month of June 2017

Macro Review and Outlook:

Inflation eases by 0.4%MoM in Jun-17

For the month of Jun-17, CPI was down by 0.4%MoM (+3.9%YoY) compared to +0.0%MoM (+5.0%YoY) recorded in May-17. 15.3% decline in prices of Alcoholic Bev & Tobacco items and downward adjustment of fuel prices pushed the monthly inflation figure into negative territory. At the same time, food basket failed to put any meaningful inflationary pressure on the index during the aforementioned month. However, on a yearly basis, house rent index (HRI) and food basket kept the 12MFY17 average inflation at 4.16%YoY.

Current account balance records a deficit of USD 10.6bn

For the period ending 11MFY17, Current account balance recorded a deficit of USD 10.6bn, compared to USD 4.6bn in the corresponding period last year. Over the last year's c/a deficit of USD 4.6bn, these numbers translate into a staggering 132%YoY growth. In 3QFY17 alone, c/a deficit reached USD 3.2bn, which is the highest level recorded in a single quarter since last balance of payment crisis witnessed in FY08. Primary factors responsible in deterioration of the c/a are trade deficit, that reached USD 23.7bn, showing a growth of +38.2%YoY, wherein, imports advanced by +16.7% to USD 43.5bn (leaving roughly 4months of import cover) and exports declined by 1.6% to USD 19.8bn. On the exports side, textile sector performed the worst, whereby, textile exports fell by 2.4%YoY. On the imports side, petroleum products showed the greatest impact with a growth of 25.4%YoY. Country's remittances also showed a decline of 2.1%YoY to USD 17.5bn, owing to slowdown in remittances receipt from the Middle East. Furthermore, receipts under

FX Reserves deteriorate

FX reserves by Jun-17 increased to USD 21.4bn as compared to USD 21.2bn in May-17 (up by 177mn). Structural weakness on external account such as widening c/a deficit, upcoming debt repayments and pressure on FX reserves still persist, which is unlikely to keep PKR stronger in the long run. From a market perspective, PKR depreciation is widely anticipated. Hence, to keep PKR stable we will witness pressure on FX reserves in the near future.

Equity Market Review and Outlook:

KSE100 index posted a decrease of 8.0% M/M in Jun-17

For the month of Jun-17, the benchmark KSE100 index decreased sharply by 4026 points (8.0%MoM), to close at 46565 points. This was primarily due to exit of frontier funds as well as prevailing political instability. Average trading volumes of the market were recorded at 190mn shares, down by 44%MoM as compared to average 340mn shares registered in May-17. The aforesaid dismal performance has been brought about by i) disappointing MSCI-EM related flows, ii) rising political uncertainty surrounding ongoing investigation regarding the Panama case that poses risks for the current political setup & a iii) discouraging taxation regime for the capital markets in contrast to the recommendations of PSX.

The prime outperformers in the market during the month of Jun-17 were Tobacco, Synthetic & Rayon, while top laggard sectors were Oil & Gas marketing companies, Oil & Gas Exploration Companies and Automobile Assemblers followed by Pharmaceutical, Fertilizers and Cements.
